BREAKS DIVORCE RECORD.

The divorce suit of Bertha L. Chritchlow vs. Charles R. Critchlow came on for trial in the Second district court; Joseph Chez appearing for the plaintiff and the default of the defendant either to answer to plaintiff's complaint or to appear in the case, was entered. Judge Howell heard the testimony of plaintiff and Mrs. Flora Jewell as to defendant's failure to provide his wife with the necessaries of life since January, 1905. They were married at Ogden, April 23, 1905. Decree of divorce was granted and plaintiff restored to her maiden name, Bertha L. Peterson. This is the second time Mr. Critchlow has been divorced, though he is only about 29 years old.

DARING ATTEMPT AT ROBBERY. DARING ATTEMPT AT ROBBERY.

A most daring attempt at theft was made here yesterday, when a man made an endeavor to get off with a suit case and a team of horses attached to a hayrack. The fellow first took a suit case from in tront of Wecker's second thand store on lower Twenty-fifth street. He then went to the City Hall square, almost in front of the police station, and loaded the stolen case on a hayrack which were standing there. station, and loaded the stolen case on a hayrack which was standing there, then mounted the wagon and drove off. Later the owner of the team, Thomas Farness, discovered his team being driven by the stranger. Farness overpowered the thief and after securing the team to a post he marched the fellow to the police station. When in front of the jail the prisoner botted and ran off. The matter was reported to the police, but the man had disappeared before the officers could run out and capture him. out and capture him.

in the minds of some of the people, who in the minds of some of the people, who heard his examination as to his being insane at the time he was committed. Dr. Caider says he is now perfectly sane and the doctor is going to discharge him as cured. Chatterly tells, what the people at the hospital always have believed, that Kipp planned the escape. Chatterly, who was bitterly opposed to being sent to the hospital, says he knew it was not the right thing to do, but he was so anxious to get away that Kipp had not much trouble to talk him into joining in the escape. Chatterly says that when they left they walked north along the foothills to Lehi Junction where they separated, Marhi Junction where they separated, Mar-ion and Kipp to go to California-Kipp told the officers here he had come to Utah from Nevada—and Chatterly to go to Salt Lake. They took different trains and Chatterly worked in Salt Lake till he got money to go further north. Then he went to Bear River and found work. An interesting feature connected with Kipp's case is that as he was at least legally insome when he was, at least legally, insune when he committed the burglary and when tried, the judgment will have to be set aside, and Kipp will have to go to the hospital to remain until he is cured, and he cannot be punished for any of the other burglaries he is believed to have committed, even if sufficient evidence, could be obtained, for the reason that he was insene at the time of committing the acts.

FOREST SEPERVISORS WANTED. ties have traced six burglaries to Kipp, four in Spanish Fork and two in Spring-ville—that is, they believe the burglaries were all committed by the same person. They have been puzzled to account for certain unusual features con-nected with them, and had concluded that the burglar was either drunk or crazy. Kipp has not acted like an in-sane man since his arrest, except that he would at times laugh immoderately without any apparent cause and at oth-

the pen in the morning. Kipp was sent from the state prison, where he was serving a term for burglary, to the mental hospital, as insane, about a year before he escaped. He had been in the state mental hospital once before, also sent from the state prison, where he was serving a term for burglary previous to the one he was serving when sent to the hospital the last time,

The three men who escaped in June were John Marion, a half-breed Indian, John M. Chatterly and Kipp. By a strange coincidence Chatterly was brought back a few days ago by the sheriff of Davis county. He is from Cedar City and since he left the hospital he has been working in the Bear River county and has been doing well raising some money. He was on his way home to Cedar City when arrested in Davis county. There was great doubt very lame from the effects of his wounds. Sheriff Harmon and his depuer times be very morose. But one of the other men confined in fall told the officers yesterday that Hosmer (Kipp) had told him that rg (Kipp) did not want to go back to Utah as he had escaped from the asylum there in June (He appeared to think he was in Colorado.) Upon hearing this Sheriff Harmon telephoned to Medical Superintendent Calder last evening, and the doctor sent Mr. Olson, one of the attendants down to identify Kipp. This he readily did; Kipp is suffering from an attack of chilis and did not want to talk to Mr. Olson. He, however, said to the sheriff that he wanted to go to and which expires next month. He has always been a troublesome patient at the hospital, and while there, was always trying to get away. He is a German about 40 years of age, and it is believed, he came to Utah from Iowa.

OFFICER KILLS SALOON MAN J. B. Millburn Attempts to Take Life of Deputy Sheriff.

Carbon Co., Oct. 8 .- A special to the Heraid gives the particulars of a shooting affray which occurred Saturday evening, in which Deputy Sheriff John U. Bryner shot and killed J. B. Millburn, a saloon keeper, and old resident of the town. Millburn had been deputing the greater part of the day drinking the greater part of the day and had become very bolsterous and was using bad language toward the whole force of officers, daring any of them to arrest him. Bryner was pass-ing along the street in front of Mill-burn's place, when Millburn spiled.

although Bryner is a quiet peaceable man and always tried to keep out of Millburn's way. The coroner's jury returned a verdict exonerating Bryner.
